

Protocol of Understanding between

The European Association for Studies in Screen Translation - ESIST

and

The European Society for Translation Studies - EST

Preamble

The European Association for Studies in Screen Translation (ESIST) and the European Society for Translation Studies (EST) share common goals in developing research on translation. These goals include: 1) to promote research on translation and cross-cultural audiovisual communication; 2) to provide a framework for the scholarly discussion of issues related to the training of translators; 3) to encourage public awareness of research in Translation Studies.

To foster closer links between the two associations in these terms, ESIST and EST wish, through this protocol of understanding, to formalize institutional links between their associations.

Protocol

By virtue of this protocol, the European Association for Studies in Screen Translation and the European Society for Translation Studies undertake:

1. to exchange, on a reciprocal basis, through their respective information channels, information on publications and activities of interest to their members;
2. to encourage participation by their members in each other's congresses, conferences and other research activities;
3. to contribute to the dissemination of information on current research and members' publications in Translation Studies, including MA and PhD theses.

This protocol will take effect on the date signed by the mandated representative of each association, and will remain in effect until one or other of the associations requests its abrogation. In such case, formal notice will be given to the other association in time for reception at its General Meeting, or equivalent.

Signed on December 14, 2010 in Stockholm by

Anthony Pym, President of European Society for Translation Studies

Jan Pedersen, President of European Association for Studies in Screen Translation

